Charles-Louis Notter is specialized in civil litigation, criminal law and international mutual assistance. As part of his activity, he advises clients in national and international cases related to criminal law, such as white-collar crimes and money-laundering, as well as electronic surveillance of telecommunication networks and media. His other areas of practice are commercial litigation and labor law. Charles-Louis Notter graduated from the Universities of Geneva and Basle where he obtained his Master's Degree, cum laude. He then practiced for several years in Geneva law firms where he acquired substantial experience in litigation. He also serves as an examining magistrate before military courts, and served as a board member of the Geneva Young Bar Association in 2014-2015, and 2016-2018. Charles-Louis is an associate in the Litigation and Arbitration practice group in Geneva since January 2019.
